EXAMPLE

COMPLETE THE WHEEL

- 1. Review the 8 Wheel Categories - think briefly what a satisfying life might look like for you in each area.
- 2. Next, draw a line across each segment that represents your satisfaction score for each area.

- Imagine the centre of the wheel is 0 and the outer edge is 10
- Choose a value between 1 (very dissatisfied) and 10 (fully satisfied)
- Now draw a line and write the score alongside (see example above)

IMPORTANT: Use the FIRST number (score) that pops into your head, not the number you think it should be!

The Wheel of Life Exercise:

Detailed Instructions:

1. Review the 8 categories on your Wheel of Life. The categories should together create a view of a balanced life for you. If necessary you can split category segments to add in something that is missing, or re-label an area to make it more meaningful for you. Examples of changes are:
  1. Family and Friends: Split "Family and Friends" into separate categories.
  2. Significant Other: Change the category name to "Dating", "Relationship" or "Life Partner".
  3. Career: Change the category name to "Motherhood", "Work", "Business" or "Volunteering".
  4. Finances: Change the category name to "Money", "Financial Security" or "Financial Wellbeing".
  5. Health: could be split or changed to "Emotional", "Physical", "Fitness", "Spiritual" or "Wellbeing".
  6. Home Environment: The category could split or change to "Work Environment" for career or business clients.
  7. Fun & Leisure: The category name could change to "Recreation".
  8. Personal Growth: could change to "Learning", "Self-Development" or "Spiritual".
  9. Other categories to add could include "Security", "Service", "Leadership", "Achievement" or "Community".
2. Now think about what success or satisfaction level you feel in each area.
3. Next rank your level of satisfaction with each area of your life by drawing a line across each segment. Place a value between 1 (very dissatisfied) and 10 (fully satisfied) against each area to show how satisfied you are currently with each category in your life.
4. The new perimeter of the circle represents your Wheel of Life.
5. Now, looking at the wheel here are some great questions to ask yourself to take this exercise deeper:
  1. Are there any surprises for you?
  2. How do you feel about your life as you look at your Wheel?
  3. How do you currently spend time in these areas? How would you like to spend time in these areas?
  4. What would make that a score of 10?
  5. What would a score of 10 look like?
  6. Which of these categories would you most like to improve?
  7. How could you make space for these changes in your life?
  8. What help and support might you need from others to make changes and be more satisfied with your life?
  9. What change should you make first? And what change do you want to make first?
  10. If there was one key action you could take that would begin to bring everything into balance, what would it be?
6. Taking action - the final step. Identify one action for each area, and then pick 1-3 actions to get started. Or choose the 3 areas you most want to work on and identify an action step for each. TIP: If you're extremely busy or stressed by these questions start by asking, "What is the smallest step I could take to get started?"
